

Eric Thorn serves as in-house counsel for the National Association of Dental Laboratories. He is a leading voice for dental laboratories on regulatory topics and works with state dental laboratory associations across the country helping to develop, present, and advance proposals and legislation establishing basic standards for the dental laboratory professionals.

Eric Thorn formerly served as the General Counsel of the Florida House of Representatives and, prior to joining NADL, spent over a decade representing businesses and associations in governmental relations and business development matters.

Title: Update on Current Trends and FDA Regulatory Impacts

Description:

As dental laboratories embrace digital workflows, understanding the FDA requirements that apply to all dental laboratories, including those exempt from FDA registration, is crucial. Join us for a discussion on current trends and regulatory topics in navigating FDA requirements for validated digital workflows. Participants will have the opportunity to ask questions.